Press release:

Tullett Prebon Information expands into Energy and Commodities

Tullett Prebon Information (TPI) announces that it has commenced the packaging and distribution of its global commodity and energy content, following its continued success in the money, capital and treasury markets.

To oversee this operation, TPI has appointed Craig Tee as Head of Global Energy and Commodities. Craig has 15 years of experience in the energy information and trading marketplace and joins from Genscape, where he headed up European sales on Power, Gas and Emissions. At TPI, he aims to build on his success and experience, by commercialising information within the trading, risk, valuation and research areas of both the buy and sell side.

The move into this space is a natural progression for TPI and demonstrates its commitment to the energy and commodity information marketplace. With Tullett Prebon's energy broking business firmly entrenched as a market leader, the move will complete the available datasets within the TPI portfolio.

Henry Ann, Global Head of TPI said "It is essential that we attract the right people before expanding into new areas and I am therefore delighted to welcome Craig on board, who brings a wealth of experience in the Energy and Commodity marketplace."
